

ISYA Code of Practice for SUP Yoga Instructor Trainers

The aim of this Code of Practice is to support professionally responsible and ethical assessment practice. The code is loosely based from the Assessment Guidelines for Training and Assessment Training.

The ISYA expects SUP Yoga Trainers to comply with this code.

- The trainer will show empathy when dealing with the varying abilities and needs of students.
- The trainer must be aware of any potential conflict of interest and must make necessary alternative assessment arrangements to reduce potential harm.
- All forms of harassment are avoided throughout the assessment process and in the review and reporting of assessment outcomes.
- SUP Yoga students are made aware of the reassessment process prior to the assessment and also that they have the right to take up any disagreement about their assessment with the trainer or ask for a second opinion.
- Either the student's or the trainer's personal circumstances must not influence the assessment process or outcome.
- During the assessment of competence, the trainer is to assess on the evidence provided at that time from the student.
- Assessments are conducted within the recommended ISYA Educational and assessment criteria.
- Assessment processes are consistent with equal opportunity legislation.
- Trainers will inform students of all assessment systems prior to the assessment itself.
- Trainers to inform students of potential outcomes of the assessment and the process to re sit the assessment if required.
- The student's personal details are to remain confidential including any notes taken during the assessment.
- Assessment outcomes are used consistently with the purposes explained to candidates.
- SUP Yoga trainers are encouraged to maintain professional development in the field of training and assessing.
